

Thank you for your update letter, I'd like to keep in touch

Dear Mr. Duino/Justin:

Thank you for sending me an update letter on LinkedIn this past Mon. 5/9/22 to let me know that you won't be moving forward with my application for your Technology Writer (Freelance Reviewer): Accessories, Phones, TVs, more that I applied for on 5/5/22. I appreciate being notified before I even had a chance to follow up today, Thurs. 5/12/22 (one-week from when I submitted for the position). Not many companies notify applicants so quickly and/or at all so props to yours for doing so.

What I really like about your Technology Writer (Freelance Reviewer) position:

- I consider myself a tech savvy person. One of my Associate degrees is in Computer Information Systems Web Development. I've worked a few computer help desk positions in the early part of my career & feel that is just added skillsets (bonuses) than my over 12 years of direct writing experience (defined as positions which required heavy writing) & have successfully worked in a freelance capacity the same amount of time. Plus, the fact that I meet ALL of your requirements for the position (to include 14 years of the minimum 3 years of technology/technical writing experience). I am an established published writer in various magazines, newspapers, etc. who is looking for a freelance writing opportunity that is a good fit for me and the company.
- I would love to write about technology products (including new gadgets that your company provides to me to review).

- I appreciate your fair pay (and aside from just saying you understand we have bills & things to buy, your actions show it by your financial compensation). Additionally, I love your promise of regular on-time payments. I hope it all works out with your new hire and should it not work out with them and/or the opportunity arises for another Technology Writer (Freelance Reviewer) I'd love to be kept in mind. If you're up for it, I'd love to keep in touch. I have a business email newsletter that I'd love to add you to that's free. The purpose would be to keep in touch, be aware of my business news, free tips & advice in my industry, free job leads, & to keep me in mind for referral & business opportunities. What's your email address if you want to be added? Either way, have an awesome rest of your week!

Sincerely & respectfully,

Carly Calabrese
